

THANKSGIVING—1915

Comes round again the Day of Thanks to God—
With earth so full of hate and scorn and lies,
With battle cry and death and blood-soaked sod,
With children's sobs and desperate mother-cries,
That thankfulness, half-born, is stilled, and dies,
And we? Can we enjoy a banquet seat
If half the world is starving as we eat?

Our rosy dreams of peace, of blissful days,
Are scattered, and their place is filled with groans;
The Golden Rule! 'Twas but a golden haze:
One half the world is killing, while with moans
The other half looks on. In mocking tones,
War seems to leer: "All hope of peace has fled;
We've eye for eye and tooth for tooth instead."

Thus thinks the one who has but little faith;
But westward still the Star of Empire moves;
Both cosmic law and verse that poet saith,
And history and art this fact shall prove,
America has learned the Law of Love—
All races here shall mingle and be one,
And in one wide, bright stream all bloods shall run.

In Europe still this law has not been learned—
Most brilliant finding of the craft of state—
There, nations fierce with racial hate have burned
And armies huge have stood behind the hate.
And now—these peoples must each other bait.
O Law of Love that knows not any race,
The work of standing armies now efface.

Give thanks to God, O ye on peaceful soil,
The drift is ever on toward the light,
And from the wreckage of this mad turmoil
Will rise an international law of right;
Then stilled forever be the law of might.
Not any race or tribe shall lead the van,
Above all nations is the victor-Man.

NOT DEAD; WERE JUST PLAYING

Lads Find University Pond a Good Swimming Hole, But Empty.

University students the other day were horrified on seeing two small boys dive head-first into the pond back of Academic Hall. Knowing there was no water in the concrete basin several of the students rushed to the assistance of the youngsters, whom they expected to find more dead

than alive.

When the rescuers arrived on the scene, the supposedly mangled victims were seen rolling and scuffling in the straw which half filled the basin. The straw had been placed there by University employees to protect the water pipes from frost.

Now go to 'em Tiger's!

The excitin' day
Is a few hours away,
And everybody is set;
The Tiger's play
Will win the day,
And shirt-tail
Will follow, you bet;
The sirens will blow,
The bon-fires will glow,
The girl's dorms they'll rush (?),
And maybe the show;--
Then one thing's sure:
To Jimmie's they'll go.

(Ellis wrote the "pome" and would please know if we'd print it.)

The 1916 SAVITAR board has taken over the surplus of the 1915 stock of SAVITARS. The board has about 100 of them on hand. Last year they sold for $2.50. You can get one of them under this plan for $1.50.

—here is the way to get one

You will be solicited by a member of the 1916 SAVITAR board. By paying him $1.50
—the reduced price of this
